

Course Description and Objectives

The Women in Cardiothoracic Anesthesia section of the Society of Cardiovascular Anesthesiology presents this webinar to foster essential skills and competencies crucial to career development in early and mid-career women and underrepresented minorities in cardiothoracic anesthesiology. This includes essential knowledge in clinical research (such as medical statistics, manuscript drafting, and grant writing), public speaking, leadership, networking, and mentorship.

At the end of this program, participants will be able to:

- Assess and recognize their personal opportunities for professional skill growth.
- Apply leadership fundamentals to their personal careers and advance their professional development.
